

JOSEPH DUPRÉ

Portrait of Joseph Dupré

BIOGRAPHY

Joseph Dupré (b. 1987) is a London-born artist and medical doctor working primarily in ceramics and bronze. His work is heavily inspired by artists such as Alfred Wallis, Georges Braque, and Pablo Picasso, with a focus on the intersection between art and medicine, producing pieces that articulate his life as a working family doctor and sculptor. He has exhibited widely, with solo shows both in the UK and internationally.
